

Halloween

Everybody is getting ready for tomorrow's holiday.

Halloween is the children's favourite. Just like every year the Clinton family was decorating their house. They were putting spiders on the walls, hanging bats from the ceiling, and skeletons everywhere. But the main decoration was a scary Jack 'o lantern. When Mia came back from school she looked around and she wasn't impressed. She told her parents that she wasn't scared, and the decorations were funny. The funniest of all was the Jack 'o lantern. Later that night when everybody was asleep she heard a sound and woke up. She went downstairs in the living room and she heard something again. Then the Jack 'o lantern lighted up and she saw the bats flying, the skeletons were dancing, the spiders were crawling up her legs, and the lit Jack 'o lantern was smiling. Then her mother woke her up and told her that breakfast was ready.

Mia realized that it was all a dream.
